Les femmes doivent être éduquées et formées dans tous les domaines afin qu'elles puissent contribuer à toutes les actions de développement, car on ne peut pas faire les actions de développement (prises de décisions, les actions proprement dites, etc ...) sans la participation ou la faible participation des femmes. C'est en participant qu'elles sont informées pour bien agir en commençant par les actions en leur faveur.

Objectifs de partenariat :

- Permettre aux femmes de contribuer pleinement aux actions de développement;
- Aider les femmes à s'auto promouvoir;
- Combattre la discrimination des femmes;
- Lutter contre la pauvreté des femmes et la pauvreté en général;
- Lutter contre le sous-développement en général car aucun développement durable ne peut se faire sans la participation des femmes.

Most national constitutions guarantee fundamental rights, but tend to limit these to certain civil and political rights such as the rights to life, to liberty and security of person, etc.

National constitutions thus tend to reflect the broader conception that only political and civil rights are justifiable, whereas economic, social and cultural rights are not.

Four « co-marrainage » areas : (1) « first clients-confidence », (2) « financing », (3) « expertise », (4) « comfortable working environment ». For « under construction » and « rolling out » projects.

Partnership with Millennia 2015 and EU ICT : institutional support (financing, ICT and legal expertise) for project development.

By 2015 : patenting and creation of a company.

By 2025 : international roll-out.

Save the Soul of Women and Children Foundation is always organising seminars for women on how they can realise their full potentials in the rural communities. Simultaneously, media campaign, mobilization and sensitization of women are carried out in SSWCF, outreach states in the north-western and north-central parts of Nigeria.

The expected are increased solidarity among women, recognition of their contribution to the development of their communities in particular and the nation at large. SSWCF is also aimed at opening up discussions on other areas of intervention for the promotion and protection of women's human rights and ultimately to enhance a world free from violence, discrimination and injustice which is crucial to building a just, peaceful and sustainable world, where human rights for all are respected.

The motto of SSWCF is: Education, Empowerment and Liberation of Women and Children.

Use of ICT to help match the quantitative progress of women employment with improving their life quality

-How can women be supported in creating their optimal balance between work and life, career and family, and how can this support societal balance and progress?

-How does the role of women and family life change in the information society and what is the significance of such virtual worlds as Second Life?

-What are today's and the future's paradoxes and how prepared are we to accept and/or mitigate them?

-What are the S&T promises to improve the life of the elderly and help in dealing with increasing demands of care on women?

Launched at the Millennia 2015, the project aims to assess the main goals and actions with horizons of 2015 and 2025; preliminary findings to be presented at the next Millennia 2015 conference. Networking and partnership with the EU ICT sector would enhance the project's quality, visibility, and faisability.
